

Family Medicine Residency Clinic

402-232-2273, ext 322

The clinic is open Monday – Friday 0730-1630; we are closed on the third Thursday each month from 0730-1300 for training.

Patients with the following conditions may walk-in Mon-Fri 0800-1100 and 1300-1500:

- Females over age 18 with UTI symptoms
- Patients 3 and older with sore throat
- Suture/staple removal

Women with a positive home pregnancy test or more than one week late for their cycle can walk-in to the laboratory on the ground floor for a pregnancy test – no referral is needed from the clinic.

The combined 55 Medical Group/University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) Family Medicine Residency (FMR) Program is a two or three year training program for active duty USAF physicians located at the 55 Medical Group, Offutt AFB, NE. There are eight residents training slots in each year of training to make a maximum of twenty-four active duty USAF residents. Two-year training slots exist for AF General Medical Officers (GMO's) or Flight Surgeons who are interested in completing their post-graduate medical education in Family Medicine. In addition, Offutt is unique in that we offer a training billet every year for a resident to select an Operational Training option which allows them to complete the FMR program and be guaranteed a Flight Medicine assignment at the end of their training.

USAF Family Medicine residents are assigned empanelled continuity patients at the 55 MDG, and have responsibility of managing these patients throughout their training. The outpatient experience with continuity patients is the core of Family Medicine resident training. Residents are mentored and supervised by nine Family Medicine Residency faculty and one licensed social worker.

We welcome third- and fourth-year medical students to visit us. We are excited to offer you many varied training opportunities, and are eager to show you our unique and diverse Family Medicine Residency program.
